ESSAYS ON OUR EVER CHANGING WORLD - New Book!

Tim is an essayist and radio commentator who has written on such things as business management, technology, politics, our changing world, and profiles of the American character. Tim's work varies from being educational one moment, to controversial or humorous the next. He describes it as "Software for the finest computer - the Mind" as he is asking his readers to think about things they either take for granted or simply overlook.

"ESSAYS ON OUR EVER CHANGING WORLD" - Describes cultural changes and why they occur, particularly due to technology. 115 Pages; ISBN-13: 978-1503102187 ISBN-10: 1503102181

Ever notice how the world has changed around us? Things seem to be unnecessarily complicated; we're preoccupied with being politically correct; we micromanage everything to death; we're now obsessed with technology to the point of distraction; there is no spirit of cooperation, just stubborn independence, and; there seems to be a total void of common sense. The purpose of this book is to describe the elements of change and what influences them.

"I enjoyed the optimism many of the articles had and I liked where you talked about generational politics. Overall, this presented optimism, hope and faith for the people of this country."

- Pat Shelton, Kansas

"I find myself not only liking the way you think and the way you write, but the way you put what's happening in our world of government regulation, technology, the medical community, and business into perspective for me. As in all of your writings, I find myself nodding my head, smiling knowingly, or laughing out loud in agreement with you..."

- Joan Schoenling, Florida
